

“Discover a Writer in Yourself”:
Follow-up Activities with Level 2 Students:

1. Share Your Impressions. Pair work followed by group discussion. Some suggested questions:
  - a. Based on the play No Answer: Why do you think Loretta is waiting for her husband at the bus stop and not at home? Why do you think Paul left Loretta? What can a woman do if she wants to bring back her husband? What might Bob’s future be? What do you think will happen with Loretta in the future? Can each of them find happiness? How does each of them define happiness? What are the sources of joy in their lives today? Will they be happier if they change their lifestyle, ideals or values? Can mature or older people change significantly their views on life or behavior?
  - b. Imagine that one day, while Loretta is waiting at the bus stop for her husband Paul, who left her, he comes back. What will they speak about? Will she forgive him? How can he explain the reasons why he left her? He and Loretta will probably discuss how both of them need to change their habits and interests in order to be happy together again.
  - c. Loretta is waiting for her husband Paul when she meets Bob at the bus stop for the second time. Will their second conversation be as personal as the first one?
2. Find the bridge between art and life! Individual essay assignment. Task: Identify and discuss one of the prominent themes brought up in the plays, and give examples from real life that illustrate your interpretation of the theme.
